Constable & Robinson

Welcome to Much-in-Little, Constable & Robinson's bijou fiction imprint for children and young adults.

In Bloom

Matthew Crow

A bright, funny, poignant and refreshing novel by an exciting new talent to watch.

Would-be poet, possible intellectual, and definitely wasted in Tyne and Wear, fifteen-year-old Francis has grown used to figuring life out on his own. Lower Fifth is supposed to be his time, the start of an endless horizon towards whatever-comes-next. But when he is diagnosed with leukaemia that wide-open future suddenly narrows, and a whole new world of worry presents itself. But he hadn't reckoned on meeting fierce, tough, one-of-a-kind Amber and finding a reason to tackle it all – the good, the bad, and everything in between – head on.

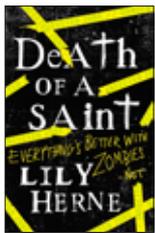

- Ask your area sales manager for a proof
- Published into a hardback format anticipating strong review coverage and award potential
- Will appeal to fans of John Green's The Fault in Our Stars and Jandy Nelson's The Sky is Everywhere

“Wow. Matthew Crow is an extremely funny writer and Francis Wootton is the best fictional teenager since Adrian Mole . . . Read IN BLOOM right now. It will improve your life.” Matt Haig, author of The Humans

“Some writers are just born . . . begin enjoying Matthew Crow now.” Jonathan Trigell, author of Boy A

Death of a Saint

Lily Herne

The zombie-fighting teen exiles are back in the next instalment of the Deadlands series.

Lele, Ginger, Ash and Saint – aka the Mall Rats – are hiding out in the Deadlands, a once-prosperous area of Cape Town, now swarming with the living dead. Exiled from the city enclave for crimes against the Resurrectionist State, the Rats face a stark choice: return and risk capture – or leave Cape Town and go in search of other survivors. But what if the rest of South Africa is nothing but a zombie-riddled wasteland?

- Cliffhanger ending that leaves you dying for the next instalment . . .
- Luckily the third book, Army of the Lost, will follow in April 2014
- Satirical, page-turning story-telling, perfect reading for fans of Patrick Ness, Malorie Blackman and Suzanne Collins
- Follow mother and daughter team Sarah and Savannah Lotz on Twitter @Herne13

“Enjoyably fresh . . . Pacey prose packed with cliffhangers and an ensemble of diverse and likeable characters elevate Deadlands from generic teen mush to digestible political satire via a pop-culture plot.” SFX Magazine

“Fantastic! Teen-fighting-zombie fun, The Hunger Games meets The Walking Dead!”

Lauren Beukes, author of The Shining Girls

“Brilliant . . . My only complaint is that I will have to wait five months to read the next book.” Thebookbag.co.uk

Ghoulish Song

William Alexander

A gripping adventure laced with humour and mystery; the lively, fantastical and fast-paced companion to William Alexander's National Book Award winning debut, Goblin Secrets.

Kaile lives in a delightful and dangerous world where goblins walk the streets and witches weave charms and spin curses. Kaile wants to be a musician so when a goblin gives her a flute carved out of bone, she is overjoyed. But the flute's mournful song separates Kaile from her shadow - and without a shadow, she is thought as good as dead, and banished from her family home. Will Kaile and her shadow learn the flute's secrets and change its troublesome tune in time to save each other – and their home - from harm?

“William Alexander is a wonderful talent whose breadth of vision and sense of theatricality, sly wit, and wicked whimsy have charmed and enthralled me since I first set eyes on his work.”

Catherynne M. Valente, author of the Fairyland series

“[Alexander's] graceful prose weaves an engaging fantasy that embraces the power of music.” Publishers Weekly

That Is Not a Good Idea!

By Mo Willems

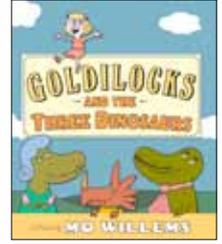

A crafty fox, a butter-wouldn't-melt-in-her-mouth goose and a band of prophesying little chicks . . . sounds like all the right ingredients for another hilarious Mo Willems picture book!

This is the story of a hungry fox who meets a plump goose and what an innocent looking goose she is. The fox can't believe his luck so he asks the goose to go for a stroll. The goose cannot refuse. Suddenly, a little chick pops up "That is NOT a good idea!" All too late! This fox invites the goose back to his house in the deep, dark woods. Now, LOTS of little chicks are shouting warnings! But . . . just who are they trying to help? The fox or the goose?

The Promise

By Nicola Davies, Illustrated by Laura Carlin

This beautiful story about people's power to change begins in a grey city where everyone is mean. One day a young girl tries to rob an old lady who gives up her bag on condition the girl promises to "plant them all". The bag is full of acorns and, as the girl keeps her promise, the city slowly fills with green. People begin to talk to each other, to plant things in turn.

A very different person, the girl moves from city to city, planting as she goes and touching lives for generations to come. Beautifully illustrated by Laura Carlin, winner of the 2011 V&A Best Illustrated Book of the Year for The Iron Man.

Picture Books

Russell Hoban and Quentin Blake

Russell Hoban was one of the world's foremost and awe-inspiring picture book makers in his lifetime. Together with Sir Quentin Blake, they collaborated on many books. The combination of Russell's marvellously eccentric prose and Quentin's madcap illustrations made them a perfect partnership – their books are utterly irresistible to children. Who else could make the absurd seem totally natural?

Rosie's Magic Horse

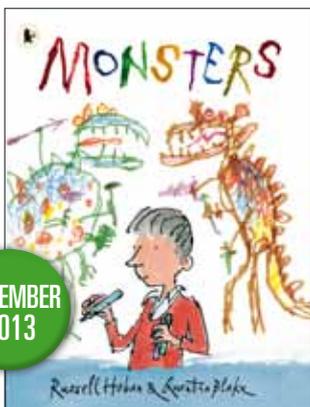

By Russell Hoban, Illustrated by Quentin Blake

An ice-lolly stick, its sweetness gone, lies discarded and lonely until a little girl called Rosie comes along and places it in a box, full of other sticks. That night, magic grows and the ice-lolly sticks dream themselves into a horse named Stickerino! It gallops out of the box, ready to rescue Rosie's family from poverty and give her the adventure of a lifetime. A story that could have come only from the imagination of Russell Hoban, brought vividly to life by the picture-book supremo Quentin Blake.

Monsters

By Russell Hoban, Illustrated by Quentin Blake

John likes to draw monsters. Red monsters, yellow monsters, scaly monsters, even invisible monsters. Nothing but monsters! His mum and dad are beginning to worry. Then one day John starts a monster drawing that fills up a whole sheet of wrapping paper – and that's just the tip of the tail! Will this be the biggest monster ever and how long will it remain just a drawing?

How Tom Beat Captain Najork and His Hired Sportsmen

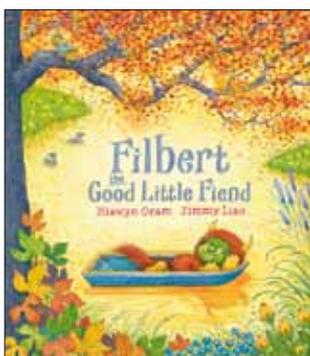

By Russell Hoban, Illustrated by Quentin Blake

Tom loves to fool around. He fools around so much that his Aunt, Miss Fidget Wonkman-Strong (who wears an iron hat and takes no nonsense from anyone), sends for Captain Najork and his hired sportsmen to teach Tom a lesson. Captain Najork lays down a challenge: they will play wumble, muck and speedball – in that order. And it turns out not to be Tom who gets taught a lesson at all.

My Blue Is Happy

By Jessica Young, Illustrated by Catia Chien

Your neighbour says red is angry like a dragon's breath, but you think it's brave like a fire engine. Or maybe your best friend likes pink because it's pretty like a ballerina's tutu, but you find it annoying like gum stuck on your shoe. In this beautifully lyrical narrative, Jessica Young suggests that colours may evoke as many emotions as there are people to look at them and opens up infinite possibilities for seeing the world in a wonderful new way.

With a Mighty Hand: The Story in the Torah

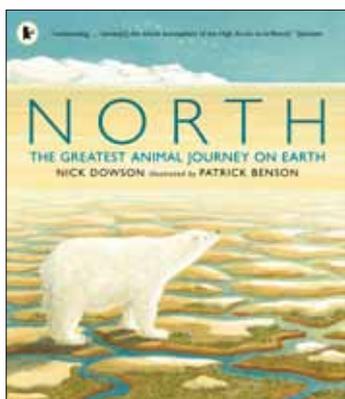

By Amy Ehrlich, Illustrated by Daniel Nevins

The Torah is the first five books of the Hebrew Bible and tells the story of the beginning of the Jewish people and their relationship with God. From Adam and Eve, to Moses, who led his people to the Promised Land, the stories have been studied and revered since it was first written down nearly 3000 years ago. Now in this new edition, Amy Ehrlich retains the beauty, drama, and mystery of the Torah, while Daniel Nevins richly-hued paintings bring the ancient wonders to life, making this truly a gift to be savoured, shared, and treasured.

North: The Greatest Animal Journey on Earth

By Nick Dowson, Illustrated by Patrick Benson

Each spring, animals migrate north to spend their summer in the snow-melt Arctic. In this season, the sun rarely sets and so millions of animals of over 200 species are drawn by the rich food sources and safe breeding grounds. This adventure is the largest, most extraordinary migration in nature; it is beautifully captured in Nick Dowson's lyrical narrative and Patrick Benson's stunning illustrations.

The Boy Who Swam with Piranhas

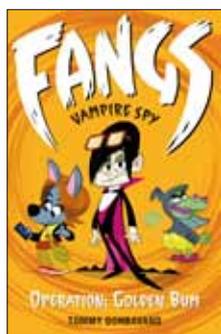

By David Almond, Illustrated by Oliver Jeffers

Multi-award-winning author David Almond brings us a joyfully life-affirming and fabulously fishy tale about one boy's journey from anguish to joy. Stanley Potts is just an ordinary boy, but when all the jobs in Fish Quay disappear, his Uncle Ernie develops a fascination with canning fish. Suddenly their home is filled with clanging machinery and the stench of mackerel, and Uncle Ernie's obsession reaches such heights that he would even can Stan's beloved goldfish! Stan, however, has his own destiny, which leads him to Pancho Pirelli, the blue-caped madman who swims with piranhas. And as Stan delves into the waters, he finally discovers who he really can be. Fully illustrated in black and white by the award-winning Oliver Jeffers.

Michael Morpurgo

Michael Morpurgo, former Children's Laureate and Britain's best-known and most beloved storyteller, is highly regarded the world over with his stories translating to stage and screen. In 2013, the year of Michael's 70th birthday, we have three memorable tales which are as perfect to curl up with as they are to hear read aloud.

Meeting Cézanne

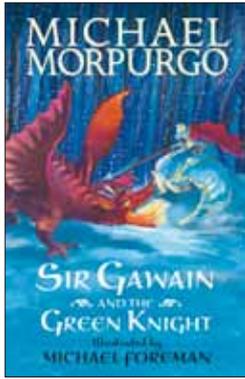

By Michael Morpurgo, Illustrated by François Place

When Yannick learns that he is to stay with his aunt in the South of France, he cannot believe his luck. If the paintings of his mother's beloved Cézanne are to be believed, surely Provence is paradise itself. So begins an idyllic month for the young boy: roaming the gentle hills of Aix-en-Provence; helping in his aunt and uncle's bustling village inn in the evenings; feeling that he has come to the most wonderful place in the world. Then one evening the idyll is spoilt when an important local comes for dinner and Yannick accidentally destroys a precious drawing the man leaves behind! How can the devastated Yannick make things right again and what surprising discoveries might come of it?

Sir Gawain and the Green Knight

By Michael Morpurgo, Illustrated by Michael Foreman

Of all the tales of the Knights of the Round Table, the story of Sir Gawain and the Green Knight is surely the most magical. Here are thrills and enchantment, chivalry and courage, a challenge and a quest. Its hero is the greatest of all King Arthur's knights, Sir Gawain. His adversary is the fearsome Green Knight, who rides into Camelot one New Year's Eve with a challenge that strikes dread into Arthurs court. For Gawain, it is the start of an extraordinary adventure.

Beowulf

By Michael Morpurgo, Illustrated by Michael Foreman

In fifth-century Denmark, a murderous monster stalks the night, and only the great prince of the Geats has the strength and courage to defeat him. Beowulf's terrifying quest to destroy Grendel, the foul fiend, a hideous sea-hag and a monstrous fire-dragon is the oldest surviving epic in British literature. Artfully retold and magnificently illustrated, this companion volume to Sir Gawain and the Green Knight is made instantly accessible to children by a formidable children's book partnership.

Hello Darkness

By Anthony McGowan

Ink Slingers

Calling Johnny Middleton's school Hell High is unfair. Unfair on hell. It is a brutal dictatorship run by the deputy head, known as the Shank, and his prefects, a group of bullyboys who have thumbs in almost every racket in the school. The only thing the Shank cares about is the school pets, so when they are slaughtered, someone must pay. And that person is going to be Johnny. But Johnny is no one's fall guy. He is determined to get to the bottom of the mystery. So determined, in fact, that he forgets to take his meds. And then things begin to get really weird for Johnny.

From two-time Carnegie Medal winner Patrick Ness comes an enthralling and provocative new novel chronicling the life – or perhaps afterlife – of a teen trapped in a crumbling, abandoned world.

More Than This

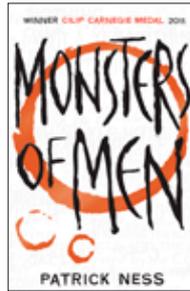

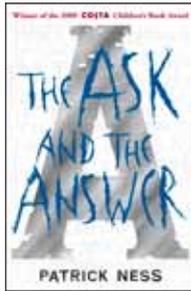

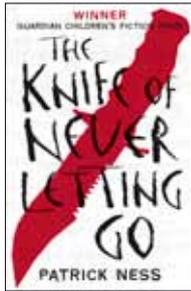

By Patrick Ness

A boy called Seth drowns, desperate and alone in his final moments, losing his life as the pounding sea claims him. But then he wakes. He is naked, thirsty, starving. But alive. How is that possible? He remembers dying, his bones breaking, his skull dashed upon the rocks. So how is he here? And where is this place? It looks like the suburban English town where he lived as a child, before an unthinkable tragedy happened and his family moved to America. But the neighbourhood around his old house is overgrown, covered in dust and completely abandoned. What's going on? And why is it that whenever he closes his eyes, he falls prey to vivid, agonizing memories that seem more real than the world around him? Seth begins a search for answers, hoping that he might not be alone, that this might not be the hell he fears it to be, that there might be more than just this...

Winter Song

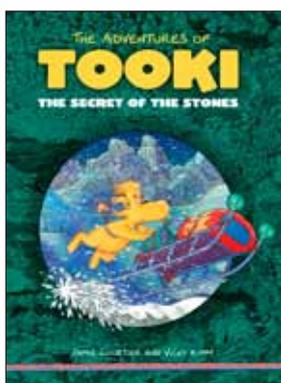

By Jean-Claude Mourlevat

A powerful story of courage and freedom against a tyrannical government, sure to appeal to fans of dystopian fiction. Four teenagers escape from their prison-like boarding schools to take up the fight against the government that murdered their parents fifteen years earlier. Fleeing across icy mountains from a pack of terrifying dog-men sent to hunt them down, only three of the friends make it safely to the headquarters of a secret resistance movement. It is here they learn about courage, freedom and love, and discover the astonishing power of one voice as the battle begins to free a depressed and terrified nation from a generation of cruelty, and to save their captured friend, forced to fight to the death in a barbaric ancient game.

Lead Title

Flora & Ulysses:
The Illuminated
Adventures

By Kate DiCamillo,
Illustrated by K. G. Campbell

Holy unanticipated occurrences!
A cynic meets an unlikely superhero in a genre-breaking new novel from Number 1
New York Times bestselling and Newbery Award winner
Kate DiCamillo.

It begins, as the best superhero stories do, with a tragic accident that has unexpected consequences. The squirrel never saw it coming – the vacuum cleaner, that is. As for self-described cynic Flora Belle Buckman, she has read every issue of the comic book Terrible Things Can Happen to You!, so she is just the right person to step in and save him. What neither can predict is that Ulysses (the squirrel) has been born anew, with powers of strength, flight and misspelled poetry. And Flora will be changed too, as she discovers the possibility of hope and the promise of a capacious heart. A laugh-out-loud story filled with endearing characters and featuring an exciting new format – a novel interspersed with comic-style graphic sequences, plus full-page illustrations, all rendered in black-and-white by up-and-coming artist K. G. Campbell.

The Tiny King

By Taro Miura

Once there was a tiny king who lived in a big castle guarded by lots of big soldiers. Every day the Tiny King eats an enormous feast at his big dining table, rides on his big horse, bathes in his big bath, and sleeps, not very well, in his big bed all alone. Everything is just too big, and the Tiny King is sad and lonely. Until one day he meets a big princess and asks her to be his queen. Not long after, they are blessed with children. Now everything is just the right size! With bright, bold cut-outs and a whimsical use of collage, Japanese artist Taro Miura creates a witty, heart-warming story with huge appeal for readers big and small.

How to Train a Train

By Jason Carter Eaton, Illustrated by John Rocco

Loco for locomotives? Get your ticket ready – here is everything you need to know about finding, keeping and training your very own pet train! Finding advice on caring for a dog, a cat, a fish is easy. But what if somebody's taste in pets runs to the more mechanical kind? What about those who like cogs and gears more than feathers and fur? People who prefer the call of a train whistle to the squeal of a guinea pig? In this spectacularly illustrated picture book, children will discover where trains live, what they like to eat and the best train tricks around . . . everything it takes to lay the tracks for a long and happy friendship. All aboard!

Mitchell Goes Bowling

By Hallie Durand, Illustrated by Tony Fucile

Head to the bowling alley for another hilarious, high-energy story as four-year-old Mitchell and his obliging dad strike a winning deal. Mitchell likes to knock things but when Mitchell almost knocks down his dad, his dad catches him and puts him in the car. When they step into the bowling alley, Mitchell feels instantly at home. But as Mitchell picks up the biggest ball and quickly learns the word 'gutter', and when Dad gets a big 'X' on the scoreboard, Mitchell starts to get peevish. Another endearing story about a father-son relationship, from this dynamic author-illustrator duo.

Ghost in the House

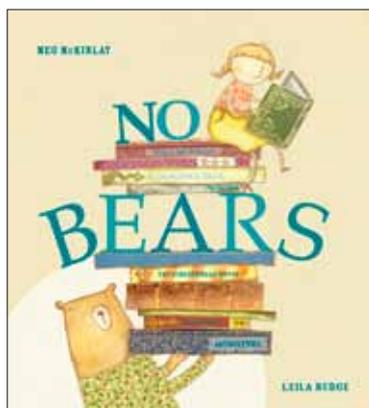

By Ammi-Joan Paquette, Illustrated by Adam Record

Boo! Watch out for this rollicking, cumulative counting book for a Halloween treat that's more playful than scary. When a little ghost goes sliding down the hallway, he suddenly hears . . . a groan! Turns out it's only a friendly mummy, who shuffles along with the ghost, until they encounter . . . a monster! As the cautious explorers continue, they find a surprise at every turn – and add another adorably ghoulish friend to their tally. But you'll never guess who is the scariest creature in the house!

No Bears

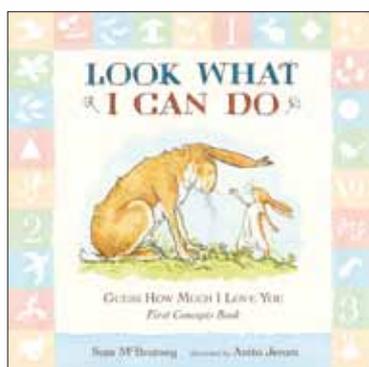

By Meg McKinlay, Illustrated by Leila Rudge

Ella wants to tell you a story – a story with absolutely no bears. You don't need bears for a book. You need pretty things like fairies, princesses and castles and maybe funny and exciting things. In Ella's kind of story, there are no bears in the village or the castle or the deep dark forest or faraway lands. But there might be . . . a monster! Riffing on well-known fairy-tale themes, this fun-packed, offbeat story is perfectly matched by playful illustrations whose running visual joke will keep even bear-lovers smiling.

Bugs

By George McGavin, Illustrated by Jim Kay

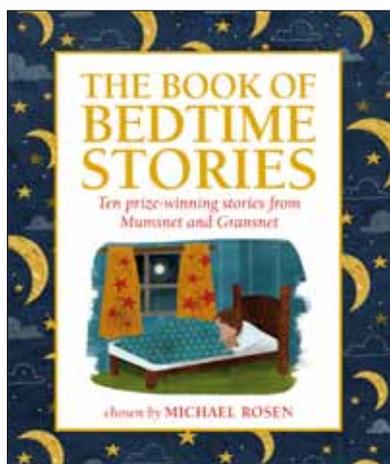

A beautifully illustrated look inside the fascinating world of creepy-crawlies, with stunning three-dimensional pop-ups.

Larger-than-life bugs spring from the pages, peek out from behind flaps and hide under tabs, inviting young entomologists to marvel at the mind-boggling variety of arthropod life. What reader can resist a chance to look inside a cockroach's body to see how it works or open a wasps' nest to see what's inside? Useful information (why does the world need bees?) and scientific trivia (which beetles are strongest and fastest?) pack every page, while exquisite art and dramatic pop-ups bring the world of bugs to life.

- An ideal gift for nature lovers of all ages
- Jim Kay is the illustrator of A Monster Calls (9781406339345), for which he won the Kate Greenaway Medal
- George McGavin presents documentary and children's programmes for the BBC and Channel 4, and is a regular reporter for BBC's The One Show

Plague in the Mirror

By Deborah Noyes

It was meant to be a diversion – a summer in Florence with her best friend, doing historical research between breaks for gelato. But when May wakes one night to find her ghostly twin staring back at her, normalcy becomes a distant memory. And when later she follows the menacing Cristofana through a portale to 14th-century Florence, May never expects to find safety in the eyes of Marco, a soulful painter who awakens in her a burning desire. The wily Cristofana wants nothing less than for her and May to inhabit each other's lives, but with the Black Death ravaging Old Florence, can May's longing for Marco's touch be anything but madness? This evocative tale follows a girl on the brink of womanhood as she dares to transcend the familiar – and discover her sensual power.

The Shadowhunter's Codex

By Cassandra Clare and Joshua Lewis

Since the thirteenth century, the Shadowhunters' Codex has been the one and only manual for any young Nephilim on their journey to becoming a Shadowhunter. Featured in both The Mortal Instruments and The Infernal Devices, this beautifully illustrated full-colour guide is Clary's copy, and as an artist herself, she's sketched pictures of her friends and family throughout the book, and scrawled helpful advice in the margins. Of course, she couldn't exactly stop Jace or Simon from adding their thoughts either.

The Little Prince

By Joann Sfar, translated by Sarah Ardizzone

A lone pilot stranded in the desert is awoken by a little prince, and they become friends. The prince comes from a tiny nameless planet far away. All that exists on his planet are three volcanoes and a flower. Yet, when the flower became difficult to please, like and understand, the little prince left in search of new friends and places. And only when face to face with the absurdities of the adult world, does he finally realize how special all that he has really is to him. A stunning and bold graphic adaptation from Antoine de Saint-Exupéry's exceptional, iconic and classic children's book Le Petit Prince.

Romeo and Juliet

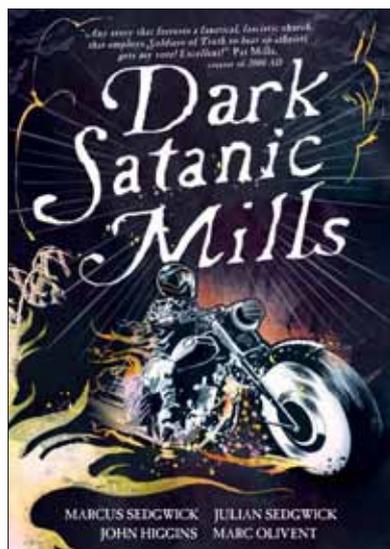

By Gareth Hinds

When Romeo and Juliet first meet, they don't know they're from rival families – and when they find out, they don't care. How much will they have to sacrifice before they can be together? Gareth Hinds's stylish graphic adaptation of Shakespeare's romantic tragedy offers modern touches – including a diverse cast underscoring the story's universality. Like Gareth's other editions of Shakespeare, this one uses Shakespeare's original language as much as possible, vividly bringing the classic play to life on the printed page.

Dark Satanic Mills

By Marcus and Julian Sedgwick, Illustrated by John Higgins

A powerful new story and début comic book from award-winning and multi-selling author Marcus Sedgwick collaborating with brother Julian Sedgwick and internationally renowned comics artist John Higgins.

Set in a near-future Britain, Dark Satanic Mills tracks a young girl's journey from the flooded landmarks of London to the scorched and abandoned hills of the north. Framed for a murder she did not commit, the innocent and beautiful Christie has no other choice but to run for her life. Both a cautionary tale and a rip-roaring road trip, Dark Satanic Mills is altogether an intelligent, captivating and thrilling ride – The Wizard of Oz for a new generation, told in exhilarating shades of light and dark.

- Marcus and Julian were both inspired by the art and writing of William Blake, reflected in the stunning visuals and design of the book
- An ideal book for young adults, fans of Marcus's work, comics fans, readers of Judge Dredd and the iconic British comic *2000AD

Oliver

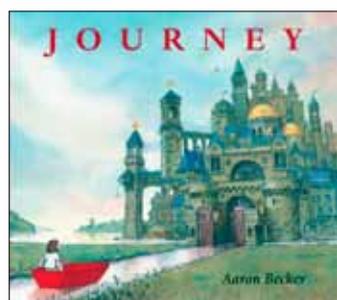

By Birgitta Sif

A stunning picture book début that celebrates the power of the imagination and the strength of friendship. Oliver is different. He enjoys his solitude. He likes playing with his friends, who are puppets, stuffed animals, and other toys. With his rich imagination, Oliver's day is never dull. There are bridges to cross, sharks to fight and treasures to find! But maybe toys don't always give a boy everything he needs. Maybe he needs another kind of companion. Will Oliver discover a way to be, well, different? When his tennis ball rolls across the lawn into the yard of the girl next door, he just might be surprised.

Peter and the Secret of Rundoon

By Dave Barry and Ridley Pearson

In this action-packed finale to the Starcatchers series, Peter and Molly find themselves in the dangerous land of Rundoon, ruled by an evil king. But that's just the beginning of trouble for our heroes. Peter and Molly once again find themselves pitted against the evil shadow-creature, Lord Ombra, in a struggle to save themselves, not to mention the planet. It's a wild desert adventure, with rockets, carpets and camels all flying through the air, zooming towards an unforgettable climax...
